Topic

The Artifacts of Culture Change presented by University of Missouri, Sinclair School of Nursing, Nursing Home Leadership Coach Dave Walker.

The Artifacts of Culture Change is an indispensable tool to assess a long-term care community's progress towards providing person-centered care. The Artifacts provides concrete benchmarks for analyzing a home's culture change journey. This presentation will explain the Artifacts of Culture Change and how to use it, as well as how to turn knowledge received through the Artifacts assessment into improved person-centered long-term care. The use of the Artifacts will assist long-term care communities in achieving better outcomes for residents in their care.
