How to Apply for a Free Government Cell Phone

First you have to find a company that belongs to the Lifeline Program who operates in your state. There are nine major companies that offer free cell phones with free monthly minutes. Coverage continues to change so make sure you go to the specific company site to get the most current information.

The plans are not all the same. The cost of additional minutes can be much different from one company to the next.

You can also go to the specific state page to get information on smaller carriers, many who just service one state.
