This includes – samples collected by LFFM laboratories within the same state as the MFRPS program (may or may not be the primary servicing laboratory for MFRPS); samples collected by other states/analyzed by other LFFM laboratories where the potentially violative product is traced back to the MFRPS program's state.

(d) Recipients will collect samples at the manufacturer, and other locations, in accordance with the collection instructions for each hazard-commodity pair on the approved LFFM sample plan, as needed.

1. Joint work planning and enforcement

FDA and state personnel will meet as necessary to develop and monitor progress in work planning for dietary supplement facilities under inspection by both agencies to ensure mutually beneficial results. When discussing work planning, best practices, such as those published by the Partnership for Food Protection (PFP), may be used as a resource to guide these meetings. The recipient should evaluate current enforcement tools, strategies, and trends to determine their effectiveness and share findings with FDA.
